EARS- Emergency Alert Response System for Accident Detection

June 2019

Nowadays road accident is the most unwanted thing, but they happen quite often in day to day life to a road user. It happens mostly because of human errors i.e. Over speeding, Drunken driving, etc. It can cause serious injuries that may lead to lifelong disabilities and even death, each minute matters when it is difference in between life and death.

So, rapid assistance to injured people should be provided as early as possible. In this research, we are processing the CCTV footage to detect accident using various algorithms like canny edge detection algorithm, and will notify to respective responsible authorities for further help. System extracts frames from video and does image classification by processing them.

If accident has been occurred information regarding area, link of accident video, accident status is sent to respective police and hospital of that particular area. Hence, rapid assistance will be provided to distressed people immediately.
